

FIFTEEN TIPS FOR SUCCESSFUL DATING

1. Identify your top five core values. Use them as a reference point before and after each date.
2. Develop a profile that accurately represents who you are and describes your personality and interests.
3. Remove any posts or photos from social media that are inaccurate or may be perceived as offensive.
4. Keep your matchmaker involved until engagement to avoid miscommunication and ensure a smoother process.
5. Show appreciation for your matchmaker's hard work with a thank-you note, small gift, or both.
6. Parents should pay attention to their child's criteria for a spouse and not impose their own.
7. Share your profile freely and reach out to close friends and family for help.
8. Be open-minded! Consider previously dismissed suggestions.
9. Don't believe rumors. Ask directly to verify.
10. Do research; ensure you're compatible before investing too much time and energy.
11. Prioritize your dating life. Take time off work to be rested and relaxed for your date.
12. Be punctual. Arrive and return on time and show reliability.
13. Avoid texting! Communicate in person or over the phone to avoid misunderstandings.
14. Listen actively. Listen more than you talk and actively listen to your date. Repeat back what you heard, in your own words.
15. Stay positive! Be yourself!
